Baldwin Is Better

Cable messages from San Francisco to Alexander & Baldwin today brought the news that H. P. Baldwin, who is seriously ill in San Francisco, has rallied in the last few hours, and hopes are now entertained that he is out of danger. Dr. Baldwin and Arthur Baldwin of Cleveland, two of his sons, are with him, and the message came from Dr. Baldwin.

CASTLE & COOKE ADVANCES MEN

Frank Armstrong has been promoted to the position of cashier of Castle & Cooke, Ltd. A. H. Armitage has been promoted to the position in the steamship department of Castle & Cooke made vacant by the advancement of Mr. Armstrong. These changes in the staff are occasioned by Mr. C. H. Atherton, who has served as cashier for many years as well as treasurer of the company, devoting more of his time to the increasing duties of the latter office. Rumors have been general the last few days of important changes in the staff of Castle & Cooke. As usual rumor has exaggerated the exact situation, the transfers among the members of the staff being the natural result of increasing business and carrying out the established policy of the concern to advance the men who have proved faithful and efficient.

"HERO" OF LATE MEXICAN WAR HERE

Honolulu has entertained unaware for a day a hero of the Mexican revolution just ended in the overthrow of President Diaz and his clique of high officials. The hero is Charles Steele, a soldier of fortune, who is now on his way to the Philippines, leaving on the transport Buford today. Steele arrived on the Buford yesterday and spent the day in Honolulu. He is probably the first eyewitness of the great battle of Juarez, the most important of the revolution, that has reached this city, and doubtless the only participant who has come here. But Steele not only has all the facts of this and other battles at his tongue's end, but the photographs to prove that he was among the fighters. Young Steele—he is only a boy—was a member of Company K, Twenty-eighth Infantry, and got down to San Antonio when the American

Kewalo Fill Is To Be Hastened

Gen. Macomb Takes Up Plans To Cooperate With Local Reclamation

General Macomb, commanding the district of Hawaii, has taken up with the Territorial authorities plans for the improvement of the waterfront lying back of Ala Moana road and the evident intention of the army to locate its post on the waterfront is expected to vastly hasten the filling of a big section of low land in Kewalo. Territorial Surveyor Wall is now at work upon maps and surveys made as preliminaries to the reclamation of a large section of Kewalo, between Ward avenue and South street. Part of this land, the section owned by the Bishop Estate, is already located after, but the Territory will immediately proceed with the reclamation of the rest as soon as the figures are complete and the work can be started. Cooperation between the military and Territorial authorities is evidently on the program, and the exact location of the army post will probably not be settled upon until the Territory's plans for Ala Moana road and the section between this road and King street has been determined.

MAYOR FERN MAY YET DELAY ENFORCEMENT OF BUILDING ORDINANCE

"I am allowed ten days for consideration of the proposed City and County building ordinance and I may require that time either to affix my signature or veto to the new measure," replied Mayor J. J. Fern in response to a query put to him this morning whether he would assist in a speedy enforcement of the new law by promptly signing the measure if passed at third reading this evening. The City and County Supervisors will bring up the building ordinance for third reading at a regular meeting to be held tonight. "I believe that the ordinance will pass a third reading by a unanimous vote," predicted Chairman Murray today. "Should Mayor Fern promptly sign the bill, it would be a matter of but ten days before its beneficial provisions went into effect. "I may sign it, and again I may not," was about the extent that His Honor would commit himself. "I want to look into the amendments that were offered and passed upon at the last meeting," insisted Fern. I believe that in a couple of days I will have determined whether I will sign or veto the ordinance. Mayor Fern has various property holdings in the city which he claims are suitable for the erection of tenements. He has expressed his opinion concerning the building ordinance and he believes that the measure as amended and now passed to a second reading would work a hardship upon those who might want to build tenements throughout the city. The Mayor offered decided objections to a number of clauses when the building law was read over and discussed at public meeting some days ago. "We will pass the ordinance anyway," declared several members of the board this morning when the matter of a possible majority veto was mooted. "We have votes enough to pass it over his head. His action will not defeat the measure but serve to delay its enforcement."

"MARKETING SUPERINTENDENT" COMES WITHOUT SALARY FOR FEW WEEKS' STAY HERE ONLY

S. T. Starrett, selected by the government and appointed by Governor Frear to take the position of superintendent of marketing under the law passed by the last legislature, is coming in a purely advisory capacity. He will serve without a salary and according to present plans will be here for a few weeks only, returning to his home in Coachella, California, after perhaps a month in the islands. It has been generally understood that Starrett was coming here to accept a permanent position, and that he was to be a salaried official. Such is not the case. He is coming to give free of charge advice of the development of market gardening in Hawaii, and the board of immigration, under whose jurisdiction the marketing division falls, believes that his services will be invaluable. Mr. Starrett has been identified with

FAIR ACCOUNTANT MAY CAUSE DISSENSION IN POLITICAL RANKS

The engagement of a young lady accountant in the office of Road Supervisor Wilder is stated to become an obstruction which will prove a bar to peace and harmony. In placing Miss G. Swayne in charge of the clerical work of his department, Road Supervisor Wilder has brought a storm of party dissension about his devoted head. There is trouble ahead. As one member of the city and county board put it this morning, "Wilder will have to drop Miss Swayne from the salary roll of his office or else he will find that when the new slate is framed with the beginning of the semiannual period, the name of Wilder will be found not written there. The Republican members of the board do not take kindly to Wilder. They accord him credit of being a competent engineer and a good man in his place. It is admitted that it is no easy matter to secure the services of a good civil engineer. Wilder has taken over the duties of his department at a time when politics dominated it to such an extent that it is claimed efficiency was much impaired. Then, again, there is no complaint concerning the efficient service given by the young lady accountant and clerk. "The position is one that pays a fair salary. There are perhaps a score of available persons of the male persuasion who would fit equally well into the office," was the rather ungallant and cold-blooded utterance coming from a chairman of one of the standing committees. Miss Swayne may be induced to resign and thereby clear the road department horizon of its cloud of dissension. If not, and should Road Supervisor Wilder take a decided stand for her retention, then July 1 may see other changes in Mayor Fern's official family.

WOMAN WHO SUED BISHOP GUILTY

Charles R. Bishop, formerly of Hawaii, now of San Francisco, has come victoriously out of the sensational trouble in San Francisco resulting from the arrest of Helenmar Seale, a woman who declared that she was Bishop's wife. Mrs. Seale, who was also known as Helen Prochdosky, was arrested on the charge of attempting to bank Attorney G. C. Halsey out of $200 by representing herself as Bishop's wife and entitled to a large share in his estate. Mrs. Seale is well-known here, where she and her father formerly resided. The San Francisco Examiner prints the following: Charles R. Bishop, vice-president of the Bank of California, categorically denied yesterday that he was ever married to the elderly Helenmar "Bishop," who, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses, testified yesterday that she was Bishop's wife, though the exact time and place of the wedding she was unable to remember. But interest in the trial, which was held before Judge Lawlor, centered in detail in the bill for the injunction, the unadorned allegations being made that the petitioners are entitled to equitable relief against the plans of John Neill for the removal of the building and the case will now be heard in court.

INJUNCTION STOPS MOVING DAY

A bill for a temporary injunction was signed by Circuit Judge Robinson this morning upon the application of Holmes, Stanley and Olson, attorneys for the Pantheon Company. The injunction is directed against John Neill, who purchased the partially completed building on Hotel street, known as the Auditorium, at a sheriff's sale and notified the attorneys for the Pantheon Company that he intended to start on the work of removal this morning. The manner in which Pantheon Company will suffer is not set forth in detail in the bill for the injunction, the unadorned allegations being made that the petitioners are entitled to equitable relief against the plans of John Neill for the removal of the building and the case will now be heard in court.

M'QUAID DIVORCE TRIAL BEGUN TODAY

Witnesses From Kona Give Testimony In Wife's Behalf.

DRIVER'S FATHER TO GO ON THE STAND

M. F. Scott Says McQuaid's Reputation For Sobriety Not of Best.

The reputation of William McQuaid for sobriety while a resident of Kona was the only point that was brought to evidence this morning when the divorce action of Mrs. McQuaid was begun before Circuit Judge Robinson. Both the principals in the suit were present in court, Mrs. McQuaid sitting at the counsel table with her attorney, Lerrin Andrews, while McQuaid was an intent listener to the evidence at the side of his legal representative, James Coke. It was agreed between the counsel in the case that Mrs. McQuaid should put on her case first, it being expected to consume several days. The proceedings this morning began with a reading of Mrs. McQuaid's libel wherein allegations were made of non-support, accusations of infidelity and striking with the clenched fists. The first witness placed upon the stand in Mrs. McQuaid's behalf was Togo, a Japanese cane contractor from Kona. The Japanese stated that he had known McQuaid, while manager of the Kona Development Company, to visit Japanese houses on the plantation and partake of liquid refreshment. The testimony of the witness was not particularly incriminating as far as McQuaid was concerned, for the Japanese stated

Admit Guilt In Court

Ten persons indicted by the Territorial grand jury appeared before Judge Cooper this morning for arraignment, and some of them saved the Territory money by entering pleas of guilty to the indictments returned against them. Daniel Kuakini indicted for the forgery of a name of a friend to a U. S. government pay check, pleaded not guilty and will be tried Friday. Kiachi Honda, indicted for larceny in the first degree, entered a plea of not guilty. The arraignment of Shibusata Tomaito on two indictments for assault and battery was continued. George Watson entered a plea of not guilty to an indictment for assault and battery. Carlato Rogo, indicted for an attack upon a girl under the age of fourteen years, pleaded not guilty. Henry Aki, named in three indictments for forgery pleaded not guilty to one and was sentenced to not less than one year nor more than five, suspended sentences being granted on the remaining two indictments. Kanichi Higuchi pleaded not guilty to an indictment for assault with intent to commit murder. Francisco Avices pleaded guilty to his indictment for assault and battery and was given a sentence of one year. Carl Weber was sentenced to thirty days on his plea of guilty to an indictment charging assault and battery. The case of Hironaka, indicted for assault, was continued.
